

BUSINESS LITIGATION PRACTICE

In the Munsch Hardt Business Litigation group, our attorneys are guided by two fundamental concepts. First, we are aggressive, well-prepared advocates. We are more than discovery and motion litigators. We are trial lawyers who focus on what matters most to our clients — producing the best outcome in the most efficient manner. That focus drives our second fundamental concept. While being great trial lawyers is important, we understand litigation is rarely an effective business strategy and our clients want sensible business solutions. With accurate case evaluation, efficient staffing, targeted discovery and motion practices, and appropriate technological support, we conduct our litigation matters in ways that make business sense for our clients. We understand that outstanding service is absolutely critical. Our goal in every case is to provide the highest quality of service at a fee structure that serves our clients' needs, while always keeping our eyes on the clients' objectives.

We have represented individuals, companies, partnerships and other business interests in litigation disputes involving intellectual property including patent, copyright, trademark and trade dress; accessibility issues raised pursuant to federal and state statutes and agency standards; fiduciary relations; appellate work; account collections; energy and environmental matters; sales, warranty and deceptive trade practice; partner/shareholder and director/officer relations; banking; lender liability; real estate sales, development and leasing; international arbitration; building and industrial construction; surety; class action suits; manufacturing; insurance coverage; legal malpractice defense; telecommunications; employment and labor, covenants not to compete and trade secrets; professional liability; housing discriminations; securities fraud and more. Aside from the preparation and presentation of jury and non-jury trials, our work includes arbitration, mediation and receiverships. We have also worked extensively in federal and state receiverships and several of our attorneys have served in various Federal District Courts as a court appointed Examiner in large securities fraud cases.

We successfully represent prominent business clients in Texas, across the United States and around the world in complex commercial cases. Our trial attorneys combine outstanding abilities with a depth of experience comparable to, if not exceeding, that of large law firms in any jurisdiction in which we practice.
