

WELCOME TO LISBON

Some say that Lisbon was founded and named by Ulysses as Ulissipo or Olissopo, which has its origins in the Phoenician words "Allis Ubbo", meaning "enchanted port". It is from there, according to such legend, that Lisbon got its name. Those guys had a point!

Occupied by Romans, Visigoths, Moors and Christians, it was always a very important point in the traffic between the Mediterranean and Northern Europe, and later between the Far East and Europe. It still has some reminiscences from the Discoveries Glory Days and from the old medieval city, but the catastrophic earthquake of 1775 changed dramatically the look of the city center. Some things never changed, though. It has a very nice climate, some very nice people, and it is a very nice place to be. Its light is unique, and today is rated among the best cities to live in. Besides, and quoting Monocle: "Don't tell the mallrats, but Lisbon is becoming an Iberian cultural hub". So, how about joining us in Lisbon? I promise you nothing. Lisbon will speak for itself.
